PICTURE CAPTIONSRefugees from Cambodia

79334/1 A Cambodian family -- one of thousands fleeing their homeland -- gathers for a meal at the Ban Mai Rut refugee camp in Thailand. Although camp living conditions are still rudimentary, the children have food, vitamins and vaccines provided through the help of many volunteer agencies around the world. The Episcopal Church's Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief is one such agency that is responding to the dire needs in Cambodia. Presiding Bishop John M. Allin has issued an urgent appeal for Episcopalians to join with the Fund, UNICEF, the International Red Cross and OXFAM in emergency relief efforts. Contributions may be sent to the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, Episcopal Church Center, 815 Second Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. (Photo Credit: United Nations Photo by J.K. 79334/2 Severe malnutrition and epidemic disease are daily threats to the life of this Cambodian child, one of an estimated three million persons in Cambodia whose survival is in serious jeopardy. The Episcopal Church's Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief is working with UNICEF, the International Red Cross, OXFAM, Church World Service, and other agencies on an emergency relief program to provide an initial $110 million in food, medicine and other urgently needed supplies for the Cambodian people. Supplies are begin distributed to families in Cambodia as well as to refugees in Thailand. Contributions may be sent to the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, Episcopal Church Center, 815 Second Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. (Photo Credit: United Nations Photo by J.K.
